

Van Essche shows

Watussi Sunset, one of the oils which Maurice van Essche is showing on his present one-man show at Gallery 101 in Johannesburg.

This painting, with its figures rigidly stylized for the sake of the overall composition, is typical of the work which has made Van Essche one of the best-known, and most influential, of the foreign-born painters working in this country.

